Administration-Insurgent Coalition Start Tax Drive

ENACTMENT OF BILL PLANNED IN TWO DAYS

Calls For Tax Reduction of $203,000,000 As Big Scrap Starts.

BY WM. K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The administration-insurgent coalition launched a drive in the senate Friday to enact their $203,000,000 tax reduction bill within forty-eight hours.

Two major bones of contention—the corporation and surtax rates—may prove a stumbling block to their program as the Democrats will direct their greatest attack on the administration's recommendation for these taxes. All indications, however, point to a triumph for the administration due to the new coalition with the Republican insurgents, who frequently have opposed them in the past.

The administration plan would reduce the corporation tax from 13½ to 12½ per cent, while the Democrats will fight for a 11½ to 12½ per cent, while the Democrats will fight for a 11½ per cent tax, the same as enacted by the house. Both Republican and Democratic plans proposed a $25,000,000 slash on surtaxes but their schedules differed radically. The house made no such reduction.

May Pass Tomorrow
If these two rates can be settled without prolonged debate, the tax bill probably will pass the senate late Saturday, being sent then to conference to iron out differences between the house and senate. The senate bill undoubtedly will limit tax reduction to around $203,000, 000 whereas the house enacted a $289,000,000 cut.

The attitude of the Democrats in the battle so far has been in sharp contrast to that displayed by the administration-insurgent Republican alliance. The Democrats developed a real row within their own ranks over the produce exchange tax. The administration proposed to retain the existing tax of one cent on every $100 of trade. The Democratic members of the senate finance committee recommended repeal of the entire tax.

Criticizes Colleagues
When the item was considered by the senate, Senator Caraway (D) of Ark., proposed an increase of the tax from one cent to fifty cents on the ground that gamblers in cotton and grains were robbing the farmers and should be heavily taxed.

He criticized his Democratic colleagues for suggesting repeal of the tax. When Caraway was beaten by a vote of 27 to 47, he declared the "farmers had lost by a two to one vote when they sought protection from the gamblers."

A moment later, a Democratic proposal to cut in half the two cent tax on the sale and transfer of capital stocks was defeated and the tax retained by a vote of 48 to 26. On both these votes, a number of Democrats followed Caraway in voting against the recommendations of their representatives on the finance committee. Such a repudiation has occurred but seldom in the past.

For the present, both banks will retain their previous status and no personnel changes are contemplated, although later changes may be made, it was said. Bank officials spoke of the purchase as a step toward bringing about better service at a lower operating cost.

PENNSYLVANIA TO DECIDE ON HOOVER FATE

Republicans Saturday Will Settle Policy of State's 79 Delegates.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Pennsylvania, the Keystone state, appropriately enough holds an all-important key to the political future of Herbert Hoover.

Tomorrow, the Republican Big-Wigs of Pennsylvania will hold a caucus and party conference in Philadelphia, at which the policy of Pennsylvania's 79 delegates to the Kansas City convention may or may not be determined.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who thus far has preserved a sphinx-like silence concerning the candidacy of his cabinet colleague, will be present, and every political ear in Washington is already grounded to catch the vibrations of the gathering—if any. The votes of Pennsylvania, or a good part of them, at least, are vitally necessary to the nomination of Hoover. Figure as they will, and do—the Hoover managers cannot arrive at a table of reasonable expectations of more than 500 votes without some help from Pennsylvania, and 545 are necessary to determine the Republican choice at Kansas City, and in that 500 table the Hoover tabulators are stretching several points which may not in the final analysis, stand for much stretching. Hence their interest in Pennsylvania, and in the Philadelphia gathering tomorrow.

NEW HOLLAND WILL HOLD COMMENCEMENT

The Rev. Harbelle will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the Church of Christ in New Holland, Sunday, for the members of the graduating class of New Holland. Miss Madge Heith will sing a solo while Dorothy Hill and Betty Briggs will give a duet.

Commencement exercises will be held Wednesday with music by the high school glee club. The class play, "The Wrong Mr. Right" will be given Friday night.

MRS. DESSIE GEPHART STRICKEN AT HOME

Mrs. Dessie Gephart, 54, wife of Sidney Gephart, died at her home, 51 E. Fourth-ave, Columbus, Wednesday.

The funeral services will be held at E. T. Snyder's chapel, Mt. Sterling Saturday at 2 p.m.

The deceased is survived by her husband, two sons, Guy M. Patterson of Cleveland, and F. L. Patterson, Grove City, and a daughter, Mrs. Ivel Arthur of North Wall street, Columbus.

Interment will be in Mt. Sterling cemetery.

CHINESE CITY FALLS BEFORE JAPS' ATTACK

Tsinan Now In Hands of Expeditionary Forces—Orient Is Seething.

(BULLETIN)

PEKING, China, May 11.—Mrs. W. T. Hobart, American Methodist missionary at Tsinan, has been murdered by Chinese troops the American legation was advised today.

The murder occurred in Tsinan on April 29, the reports reaching here said.

There had been rumors that the American had been killed but official reports confirming the affair had been delayed.

TSINGTAO, China, May 11.—Tsinan has fallen before the vigorous drive of the Japanese expeditionary forces and the Chinese Nationalist army has evacuated, it was learned here today.

Vigorous fighting preceded the rout of General Chiang Kai Shek's remaining forces, estimated at about 2,000.

The remnants of the Southern army had for hours bitterly resisted the Japanese approach and had signaled they would not surrender even though Japanese planes whirled overhead and the Japanese gunners laid down a steady barrage on the walled city.

The evacuation of the outposts within the walled city, section adjoining the main commercial area of Tsinan, came after the Chinese chamber of commerce had intervened.

The army fled suddenly leaving the Japanese in control of the city. Already they had cleared a path between their lines and the walled city and had taken over part of that stronghold.

The Japanese were halting their fire to demand surrender when the Chinese evacuated the city.

For about three hours this practice went on and finally the 2,000 besieged troops evacuated the city.

"Japan's dispatch of large military forces into Shantung and occupation of the strategic province is obviously a violation of the treaty signed in Washington in 1922," Dr. Wu said.

He was asked the relation between the present Japanese-Chinese situation and Japan's 21 demands on China in 1925, and he said that foreign minister, Tanaka had advocated this aggressive policy.

"Now Tanaka is both premier and foreign minister and is thereby enabled to continue his previous policy to a greater degree," the Chinese delegate said.

PARIS, May 11.—Dr. C. C. Wu, former foreign minister of the Nanking government and now Nationalist delegate in Paris, announced today he would sail immediately for the United States to confer with Secretary of State Kellogg and to lay the entire Shantung situation before the American people.

"The tremendous issues involved affect the Americans only slightly less than the Chinese," Dr. Wu told the United Press. "It is necessary therefore that America decide what action, if any, should be taken."

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES AT HIS HOME

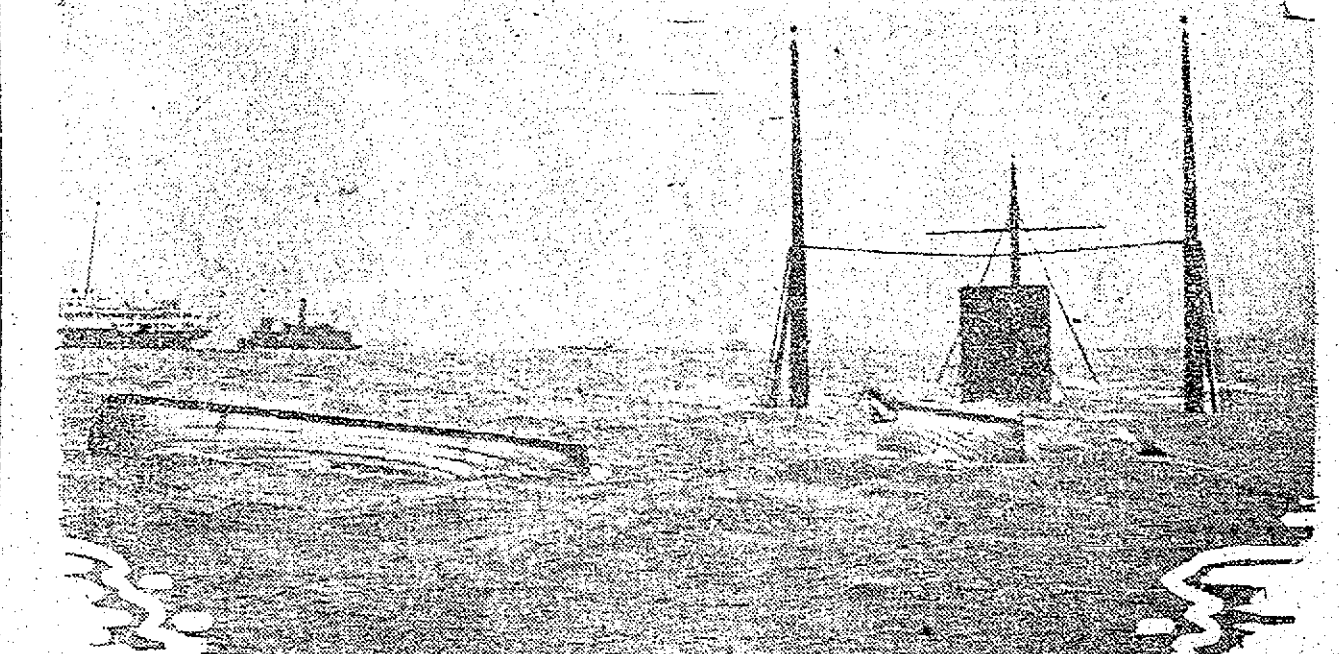

James Edward Tappan, a veteran of the Civil war, died Tuesday at his home in Mt. Sterling. He served in Company K, 7th regiment O. V. I.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah Tappan, a daughter, Mrs. Emma O'Neil of Columbus, and four grandchildren.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Mt. Sterling, Friday at 2 p.m. Interment was made at Mt. Sterling.

INTER-CITY ROTARY MEETING SCORES HIT

ITALIA SAILS ON ITS FIRST POLAR FLIGHT

Plan To Let Ladder Down
From Balloon On Ice For
Explorations.

ROME, May 11.—Gen. Umberto Nobile left King's Bay, Spitzbergen, in the exploration balloon Italia at 6:50 a. m. Friday for his first flight over the North Pole area, said a dispatch received here from King's Bay Friday afternoon.

The present flight is the first of three reconnaissances which Gen. Nobile and his fellow explorers will make in the proximity of the pole. With good weather conditions Gen. Nobile planned to fly in broad curves over Nicholas, II Land, perhaps passing directly over the pole. The flight is expected to last nearly 40 hours.

All the members of the Italia's crew were in good health and spirits and eager to get into action. Previously it had been announced that Nobile would not attempt a landing upon the ice at the pole until the third trip, but indications were that he had changed his mind and would make the landing Friday or Saturday, weather conditions permitting.

It was planned to anchor the balloon directly above the pole and let down a landing party upon rope ladders. In addition to making scientific observations the explorers were to plant a wood cross in the ice that had been presented to the expedition by Pope Pius XI.

The ceremony was to be accompanied by a religious service.

LAURELVILLE AUTO DEALER IS ROBBED

Down in the deep city of the hills, Laurelville, had a little excitement when the auto dealership of W. L. DeHaven, auto dealer was robbed sometime during the night of nearly $200 worth of savings and merchandise taken. A new thoroughbred writing machine and 11 new Goodyear tires were stolen.

Mr. DeHaven carried no burglary insurance.

HUNDREDS AT CLUB'S PARTY ON THURSDAY

Rotarian Movement Is Result
of Longing To Do Good,
Speaker Says.

Approximately 350 Rotarians from Chillicothe, Greenfield, Lancaster, Logan, Washington C. H., and Circleville helped put over the inter-city meeting at the C. A. C. Thursday night, in real fashion, enjoying four hours of a real get-together that was pronounced a success by all participants.

Clark Will, president of the Circleville club, welcomed the visiting Rotarians who came by traction bus and auto, summing a brief talk up into three words, "We welcome you."

Robert D. Hughes, of Dayton, new district governor, made the response.

Prior to that the Rev. Emil S. Toennies had given the invocation, a fine dinner had been served by the Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church, and club singing had been led by Karl J. Herrmann, song leader, with Mrs. Alys S. Herrmann as pianist.

Several fine musical numbers which scored a hit were given by members of the Monday club quartet, Miss Helen Marion, Mrs. Annette G. Will, and Mrs. Hazel M. DeHaven, accompanied by Miss Alys Mills Clarke.

The Rotarian movement resulted due to the eternal longing to do good, Charles D. Smither of Steubenville, Third governor of the Twenty-second District, told the assembly, in the main address of the evening.

Mrs. Smither made a powerful talk in which she declared the movement be carried on as foot to foot, and that the government should support it.

The speaker said that the 12,000 members who gathered in the United States last year, 25 times as many as England had and 40 times as many as were recorded in Germany.

There were more murders in Ohio the past year than in all England and Canada combined, he said.

The speaker had a flow at the large number of laws on the statute books, and declared "we are all law breakers. There isn't a man here tonight who hasn't broken some sort of a law, especially if you own an auto."

COURTROOM, ALBANY, N. Y., May 11.—Adjudged guilty of contempt of court, David R. Main, one of six jurors who voted to acquit former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp of a charge of stealing census money, was vigorously condemned and censured today by Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan and then discharged.

The contempt charge was lodged against Main by George Z. Medallie, special deputy attorney general, who is prosecuting Mrs. Knapp. Main is alleged to have said he would not vote to convict Mrs. Knapp because District Attorney Charles J. Herriock of Albany had said the evidence was not sufficient to convict her. Main was represented by former County Judge Isadore Xookstein.

than to Main. Medallie said: "As a prospective juror, he misled us or he would not have been accepted as a juror. By his false answers he showed a complete disregard for law and order." Robert R. Reeves, a reporter on the Albany Evening News, was then called and he testified that Main had told him of the substance of Herriock.

LINDBERGH SAFE WITH PLANE AT CURTISS FIELD

After Night of Anxiety When
His Landing Is Kept
Secret.

NEW YORK, May 11.—After withholding all night information of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's latest "mystery flight," officials at Curtiss field this morning admitted that America's premier flier had landed there safely at 3 o'clock last night. The colonel flew from Detroit yesterday afternoon.

Col. Lindbergh left the Ford airport in Detroit at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon accompanied by Lieut. Commander V. H. Weens, his naval navigation instructor. The trip was made in Col. Lindbergh's new Ryan monoplane and was uneventful.

It Detroit, Col. Lindbergh's destination was "unannounced." But some anxiety was felt when no word of the arrival was received and officials at the Ford airport, where he took off, at last revealed that the colonel was flying towards Mitchell Field, N. Y.

From the latter field inquiries were sent to a number of points between Detroit and New York concerning weather conditions. All reported the flying weather favorable, but no word of Col. Lindbergh or his Ryan was received.

Until early this morning, officials at Curtiss field declined to make a report of Lindbergh's arrival. Finally, when notified that anxiety for the famous colonel's safety was growing throughout the country, they gave out the information of his arrival.

GOT THEIR DOGS BACK!

Two Circleville people recently lost their pet dogs, Mrs. Earl Kibler, 419 E. Main-st., and M. C. Moseley, of the J. C. Penney store.

The paper containing the classified ad telling of her loss brought the finder of the dog to the Kibler home with the fine police dog shortly after The Herald was distributed that afternoon.

Mr. Moseley also found his pet dog there a classified ad in The Herald.

Doesn't that prove that it pays to advertise in The Herald?

The funeral services will be held at E. T. Snyder's chapel, Mt. Sterling Saturday at 2 p.m.

The deceased is survived by her husband, two sons, Guy M. Patterson of Cleveland, and F. L. Patterson, Grove City and a daughter, Mrs. Isel Arthur of North Wall street, Columbus.

Interment will be in Mt. Sterling cemetery.

CABLE BROKEN AND 200 HAVE NO 'PHONES

The ditching machine being used to put in the sewer, on Mill-st., broke the underground cable of the Citizens Telephone company Thursday and interrupted the service of over 200 telephone users.

The telephone crew is busy repairing this break and expect to have the line ready for service some time Friday night.

CHINESE CITY FALLS BEFORE JAPS' ATTACK

Tsinan Now In Hands of Expeditionary Forces—Orient Is Seething.

(BULLETIN)

PEKING, China, May 11.—Mrs. W. T. Hobart, American Methodist missionary at Tsinan, has been murdered by Chinese troops the American legation was advised today.

The murder occurred in Tsinan on April 29, the reports reaching here said.

There had been rumors that the American had been killed but official reports confirming the affair had been delayed.

TSINGTAO, China, May 11.—Tsinan has fallen before the vigorous drive of the Japanese expeditionary forces and the Chinese Nationalist army has evacuated, it was learned here today.

Vigorous fighting preceded the rout of General Chiang Iai Shek's remaining forces, estimated at about 2,000.

The remnants of the Southern army had for hours bitterly resisted the Japanese approach and had signaled they would not surrender even though Japanese planes whirled overhead and the Japanese gunners laid down a steady barrage on the walled city.

The evacuation of the entrenchments within the walled city, section adjoining the main commercial area of Tsinan, came after the Chinese chamber of commerce had intervened.

The army fled suddenly leaving the Japanese in control of the city. Already they had cleared a path between their lines and the walled city and had taken over part of that stronghold.

The Japanese were halting their fire to demand surrender when the Chinese evacuated the city.

For about three hours this practice went on and finally the 2,000 besieged troops evacuated the city.

"Japan's dispatch of large military forces into Shantung and occupation of the strategic province is obviously a violation of the treaties signed in Washington in 1922," Dr. Wu said.

He was asked the relation between the present Japanese-Chinese situation and Japan's 21 demands on China in 1925, and he said that foreign minister, Tanaka had advocated this aggressive policy.

"Now Tanaka is both premier and foreign minister and is therefore enabled to continue his previous policy to a greater degree," the Chinese delegate said.

PARIS, May 11.—Dr. C. C. Wu, former foreign minister of the Nanking government and now Nationalist delegate in Paris, announced today he would sail immediately for the United States to confer with Secretary of State Kellogg and to lay the entire Shantung situation before the American people.

"The tremendous issue involved affect the Americans only slightly less than the Chinese," Dr. Wu told the United Press. "It is necessary therefore that America decide what action, if any, should be taken."

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES AT HIS HOME

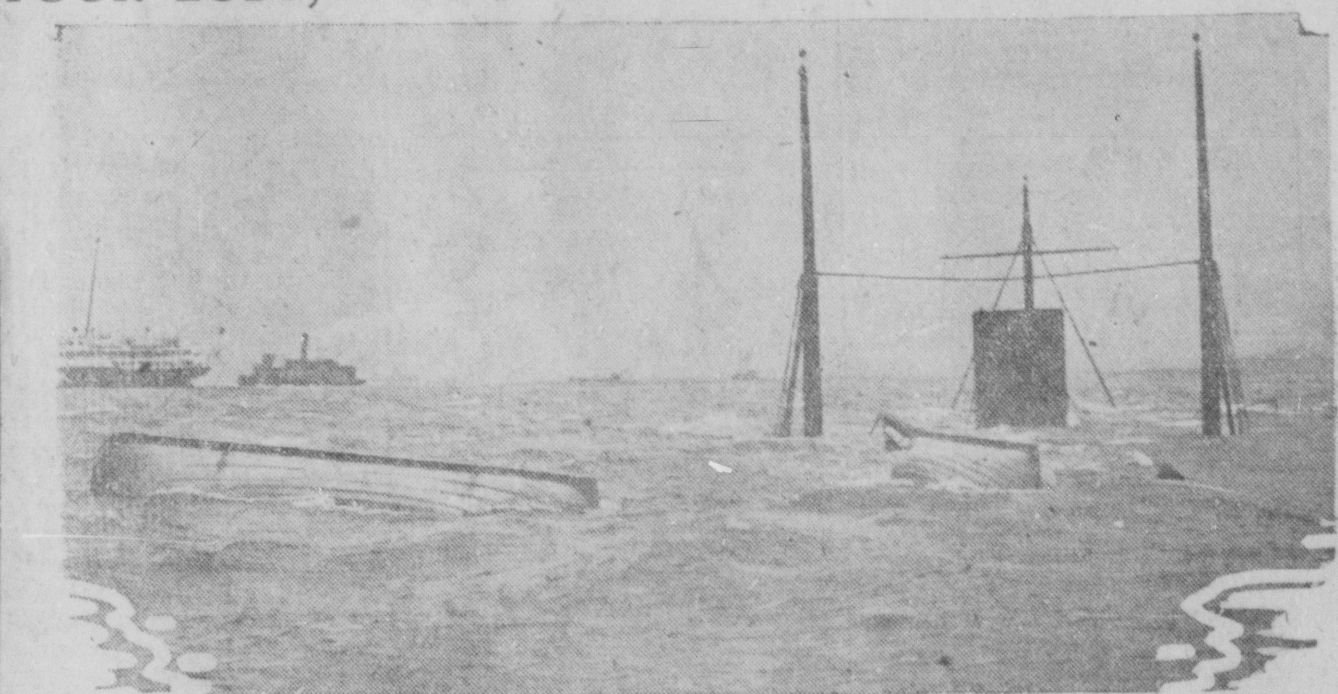

James Edward Taynor, a veteran of the Civil war, died Tuesday at his home in Mt. Sterling. He served in Company K, 74th regiment O. V. I.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah Taynor, a daughter Mrs. Emma Overly of Columbus, and four grandchildren. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Mt. Sterling, Friday at 2 p.m. Interment was made at Mt. Sterling.

FOUR LOST; TWO SCORE SAVED IN BOAT CRASH

This photo shows the upper structure of the ill-fated U. S. dredge "Navesink" after it was sunk in a collision in New York harbor. Many vessels rushed to aid the crew, who were forced to take to the water and by quick action were able to save more than 40 of the dredge's crew of 47. It is feared that four lives were lost.

ITALIA SAILS ON ITS FIRST POLAR FLIGHT

Plan To Let Ladder Down
From Balloon On Ice For
Explorations.

ROME, May 11.—Gen. Umberto Nobile left King's Bay, Spitzbergen, in the exploration balloon Italia at 6:50 a. m. Friday for his first flight over the North Pole area, said a dispatch received here from King's Bay Friday afternoon.

The present flight is the first of three reconnaissances which Gen. Nobile and his fellow explorers will make in the proximity of the pole. With good weather conditions Gen. Nobile planned to fly in broad curves over Nicholas II Land, perhaps passing directly over the pole. The flight is expected to last nearly 40 hours.

All the members of the Italia's crew were in good health and spirits and eager to get into action. Previously it had been announced that Nobile would not attempt a landing upon the ice at the pole until the third trip, but indications were that he had changed his mind and would make the landing Friday or Saturday, weather conditions permitting.

It was planned to anchor the balloon directly above the pole and let down a landing party upon rope ladders. In addition to making scientific observations the explorers were to plant a wood cross in the ice that had been presented to the expedition by Pope Pius XI.

The ceremony was to be accompanied by a religious service.

LAURELVILLE AUTO DEALER IS ROBBED

Down in the 'Gem' city of the Hills, Laurelville, had a little excitement when the auto accessory department of W. P. DeHaven, auto dealer, was entered sometime during the night and nearly $200 worth of fixtures and merchandise taken. A new Burroughs Adding machine, an Oliver typewriting machine, and 11 new Goodyear tires were stolen.

Mr. DeHaven carried no burglary insurance.

CIRCLEVILLE MAN'S BROTHER STRICKEN

Ballard Pearce, 39, of New Holland, died at Mt. Carmel hospital Friday morning at 2 a. m. of pneumonia and complications.

He was the brother of Earl Pearce of 227 Walnut-st., Circleville. He is survived by his wife and four children.

WOMAN ENDS HER LIFE BY HANGING AT MT. STERLING

Despondency Said To Have Been Cause of Act by Mrs.
Margaret Beale, 62.

Mrs. Margaret E. Beale, wife of Elmer E. Beale, proprietor of a restaurant at Mt. Sterling, committed suicide at her home Thursday by hanging. Despondency over ill health is given as the cause for her act.

The deceased mother's side, the Clarridge family, was related to people in this city. She was a daughter of Lewis T. and Ellen Clarridge Atkins.

Her mother, Mrs. Ellen Atkins, a son, B. C. Beale, a daughter, Mrs. Scott Parrett, two brothers, W. C. and R. S. Atkins, three sisters, Mrs. Emma Keller, of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. J. M. Davis, of 2637 Terrace-ave, Columbus, and Mrs. Clara English, survive.

The funeral services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m., at the home of her daughter in Mt. Sterling, with interment in Mt. Sterling cemetery.

HUNDREDS AT CLUB'S PARTY ON THURSDAY

Rotarian Movement Is Result
of Longing To Do Good,
Speaker Says.

Approximately 350 Rotarians from Chillicothe, Greenfield, Lancaster, Logan, Washington C. H., and Circleville helped put over the inter-city meeting at the C. A. C. Thursday night, in real fashion, enjoying four hours of a real get-together that was pronounced a success by all participants.

Robert D. Hughes, of Dayton, new district governor, made the response.

Prior to that the Rev. Emil S. Toensmeier had given the invocation, a fine dinner had been served by the Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church, and club singing had been led by Karl J. Herrmann, song leader, with Mrs. Alys S. Herrmann as pianist.

Several fine musical numbers which scored a hit were given by members of the Monday club quartet, Miss Helen Marion, Mrs. Annette G. Will, and Mrs. Hazel M. Moffitt accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke.

The Rotarian movement resulted due to the eternal longing to do good. Charles D. Simeral, of Steubenville, Third governor of the Twenty-Second District, told the assemblage, in the main address of the evening.

Mr. Simeral made a powerful talk in which he denounced the movement he charged is on foot to break down party government and to spread radicalism.

"The minority is in rule in congress," he said. "This country is run by a few men. We are patterning our government after that of England and in France."

The speaker said that 12,000 murders were committed in the United States last year, 25 times as many as England had and 40 times as many as were recorded in Germany.

"There were more murders in Chicago the past year than in all of England and Canada combined," he said.

The speaker hit a blow at the large number of laws on the statute books, and declared "we are all law breakers. There isn't a man here tonight who hasn't broken some sort of a law, especially if you own an auto."

CENSORED FOR ACTION, THEN HE IS FREED

Contempt Case Lodged Against David R. Main Brought To Close.

COURTROOM, ALBANY, N. Y., May 11.—Adjudged guilty of contempt of court, David R. Main, one of six jurors who voted to acquit former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp of a charge of stealing census money, was vigorously condemned and censured today by Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan and then discharged.

The contempt charge was lodged against Main by George Z. Medaille, special deputy attorney general, who is prosecuting Mrs. Knapp. Main is alleged to have said he would not vote to convict Mrs. Knapp because District Attorney Charles J. Herrick of Albany had said the evidence was not sufficient to convict her. Main was represented by former County Judge Isadore Kookstein.

Robert R. Reeves, a reporter on the Albany Evening News, was then called and he testified that Main had told him of the influence of Herrick.

LINDBERGH SAFE WITH PLANE AT CURTISS FIELD

After Night of Anxiety When
His Landing Is Kept
Secret.

NEW YORK, May 11.—After withholding all night information of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's latest "mystery flight," officials at Curtiss field this morning admitted that America's premier flier had landed there safely at 8 o'clock last night. The colonel flew from Detroit yesterday afternoon.

Col. Lindbergh left the Ford airport in Detroit at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon accompanied by Lieut. Commander V. H. Weens, his naval navigation instructor. The trip was made in Col. Lindbergh's new Ryan monoplane and was uneventful.

It Detroit, Col. Lindbergh's destination was "unannounced." But some anxiety was felt when no word of the arrival was received and officials at the Ford airport, where he took off, at last revealed that the colonel was flying towards Mitchell Field, N. Y.

From the latter field inquiries were sent to a number of points between Detroit and New York concerning weather conditions. All reported the flying weather favorable, but no word of Col. Lindbergh or his Ryan was received.

Until early this morning, officials at Curtiss field declined to make a report of Lindbergh's arrival. Finally, when notified that anxiety for the famous colonel's safety was growing throughout the country, they gave out the information of his arrival.

GOT THEIR DOGS BACK!

Two Circleville people recently lost their pet dogs, Mrs. Earl Kibler, 419 E. Main-st., and M. C. Moseley, of the J. C. Pomey store.

The paper containing the classified ad telling of her loss brought the finder of the dog to the Kibler home with the fine police dog shortly after The Herald was distributed that afternoon.

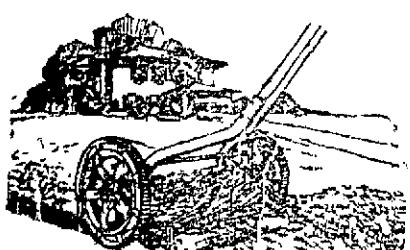

Mr. Moseley also found his pet dog thru a classified ad in The Herald.

Doesn't that prove that it pays to advertise in The Herald?

Fifty-two Applicants Examined
By Clinic With 11
Positive Cases.

The outstanding deduction to be made from the two-day Diagnostic Chest Clinic held in Circleville is that there are many cases of tuberculosis in this community.
There were 52 applicants examined by Dr. E. A. Martin, Supt. Clark-Co. Sanitarium, Dr. L. H. Seniff, Supt. Mt. Logan Sanitarium, Dr. F. C.
Anderson, Supt. Ohio State Sanitarium, and Dr. J. A. Frank, State Dept. of Health.
Eleven were diagnosed as positive and 16, while not given a positive diagnosis, were regarded as suspects. Of the 11 positive and 16 suspect cases, 18 are young people under 25 years of age. In 27 cases classified as positive and suspect 21 could trace a direct contact over an extended period of time. All of these cases need the best care and oversight that the community can afford.

Of the 25 cases regarded as negative, for tuberculosis, examination showed many other conditions which need treatment to build up the patient's resistance, if these patients are to be prevented from becoming future tuberculosis cases, 60 per cent were found to have enlarged thyroids, 52% had enlarged tonsils and glands 15% had heart conditions which need attention and treatment and 20% were found to be greatly under-nourished and anaemic. Twenty-two of the negative cases are known contacts of active cases of tuberculosis and this means that constant preventative measures are necessary in their families. If Pickaway-Co. expects to reduce its death rate from tuberculosis which is now 135.7

and more than double the general average over the entire state, every effort must be made to institute proper preventative measures in the homes of all known tuberculosis cases and special attention given to all persons suspected of having this disease.
This is essentially a community problem and should receive the careful consideration of the entire community.

"It is for efficient service and for the greatest good of all," says Dr. J. A. Frank, Chief of the Division of Hygiene, "that all records have been referred back to the family physician in every case."

It is not the privilege but the duty of each patient to go to his physician for advice and treatment.
There are many persons who have tuberculosis who are not amenable to treatment in the home. Institutional care should be provided for such. The value of sanatorium care is not alone to the individual but to every one in the community. For the more than 40,000 cases of tuberculosis in Ohio, there are now less than 2,000 beds which provide institutional care.

PICKAWAY-ST. STORM SEWER WORK PUSHED

Around 1200 Feet Main Line
Pipe Being Laid To Relieve Several Streets.

The John C. Cashman contracting company, now laying the storm drain sewers on Pickaway-st., is doing quite a large and beneficial bit of work for the city.

This project involves the laying of 1200 feet of main line sewer, 10 to 16 feet deep. Around 250 feet of the pipe leads from storm basins while the contract calls for four-man holes and eight storm basins.

This work having started some days ago will be completed by the end of the month.

The same firm of contractors are doing the finishing up of the large storm sewer project called the "Huston sewer extension," involving the placing of more than a half a mile of large trunk line sewer with nearly a quarter mile of smaller pipe leading from storm basins to the main line.

This is the job where the large reinforced pipe were laid. This pipe was 30 inches inside diameter, six feet long and weighed 2600 pounds. It had to be placed with a large caterpillar gasoline crane.
Mr. Cashman advises that the larger project will be completed in just a few days after the arrival of the storm basins castings which have been delayed in transit.

The installation of these sewers introduced the use in Circleville of the latest and most modern sewer building equipment available. Contractor Cashman's equipment functions in a manner that approximates human efficiency. The large trenching machine is what is styled as the "hoe type" and pulls the trench after the machine itself. It digs a trench any width and as deep as 22 feet, but the trencher itself is always on solid ground.

The work now being done relieves the area east of Court-st.
and South of Mound; it having experienced much trouble from accumulating waters after each rain because of lack of ample facilities for quick getaway of the water.

The larger project provides storm water relief to all that area
South of the R. R. on Half-ave., Clinton-st., Ohio-st., Washington and Pickaway-sts., and has been badly needed for a long time past.

Mr. Cashman has similar contracts in Hamilton and Springfield and will move to Hamilton the first of June.

AGREEMENT IS EXPECTED ON FARM MEASURE

Compromise Between Senate
and House Conferees Is
First Step.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—An early agreement on conflicting provisions of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was predicted today following a compromise between Senate and House conferees on some important provisions.

Senate conferees, it was learned, yielded to the House restrictions on the power of advisory committees set up to advise the proposed Federal Farm Board in handling surplus crops. The House provision requires consent of the council before the equalization fee is levied, but removes many restrictions on the Federal Board which said to be objected to by President Coolidge last year.

Heading protests of co-operative heads of the middle west, the House managers yielded to an amendment reducing the "cooperative boosting fund" from $2,000, 000 to $1,000,000.

Mid-west farm organizers had complained that the $2,000,000 would constitute a "slush fund" under which the Federal Farm Board could boost favored cooperatives and revive others which had failed because of poor management.

Positive Cases.

The outstanding deduction to be made from the two-day Diagnostic Chest Clinic held in Circleville is that there are many cases of tuberculosis in this community. There were 52 applicants examined by Dr. E. A. Martin, Supt. Clark-Co. Sanitarium; Dr. L. H. Senliff, Supt. Mt. Logan Sanitarium; Dr. F. C. Anderson, Supt. Ohio State Sanitarium, and Dr. J. A. Frank, State Dept. of Health. Eleven were diagnosed as positive, and 16, while not given a positive diagnosis, were regarded as suspects. Of the 11 positive and 16 suspect cases, 18 are young people under 25 years of age. In 27 cases classified as positive and suspicious 21 could trace a direct contact over an extended period of time. All of these cases need the best care and oversight that the community can afford.

Of the 25 cases regarded as negative, for tuberculosis, examination showed many other conditions which need treatment to build up the patient's resistance, if these patients are to be prevented from becoming future tuberculosis cases, 60 per cent were found to have enlarged thyroids, 52% had enlarged tonsils and glands, 16% had heart conditions which need attention and treatment and 20% were found to be greatly under-nourished and anemic. Twenty-two of the negative cases are known contacts of active cases of tuberculosis and this means that constant preventative measures are necessary in their families. If Pickaway-Co. expects to reduce its death rate from tuberculosis which is now 135.7 and more than double the general average over the entire state, every effort must be made to institute proper preventative measures in the homes of all known tuberculosis cases and special attention given to all persons suspected of having this disease. This is essentially a community problem and should receive the careful consideration of the entire community.

"It is for efficient service and for the greatest good of all," says Dr. J. A. Frank, Chief of the Division of Hygiene, "that all records have been referred back to the family physician in every case." It is not the privilege but the duty of each patient to go to his physician for advice and treatment.

There are many persons who have tuberculosis who are not amenable to treatment in the home. Institutional care should be provided for such. The value of sanitarium care is not alone to the individual but to every one in the community. For the more than 40,000 cases of tuberculosis in Ohio, there are now less than 2,000 beds which provide institutional care.

The State Clinic nurse was assisted by Miss Charlotte Phelps, city nurse, and Mrs. Kathryn Brownell, county nurse, and Mrs. Bess Black and Mrs. Mae Grooms, local nurses.

The dressing rooms were in charge of Mrs. T. W. Brown, Mrs. Georgia James, Miss Mary Marfield and Miss Weldon, on Tuesday, and Mrs. D. V. Courtright, Mrs. C. G. Stewart and Mrs. H. H. Groce assisted on Wednesday.

Copies of the clinic charts were made by Miss Grace Clarke and Miss Sidney Trimble.

PICKAWAY-ST. STORM SEWER WORK PUSHED

Around 1200 Feet Main Line
Pipe Being Laid To Re-
lieve Several Streets.

The John C. Cashman contracting company, now laying the storm drain sewers on Pickaway-st., is doing quite a large and beneficial bit of work for the city.

This project involves the laying of 1200 feet of main line sewer, 10 to 16 feet deep. Around 250 feet of the pipe leads from storm basins while the contract calls for four-man holes and eight storm basins.

This work having started some days ago will be completed by the end of the month.

The same firm of contractors are doing the finishing up of the large storm sewer project called the "Huston sewer extension," involving the placing of more than a half a mile of large trunk line sewer with nearly a quarter mile of smaller pipe leading from storm basins to the main line.

This is the job where the large reinforced pipe were laid. This pipe was 30 inches inside diameter, six feet long and weighed 2600 pounds. It had to be placed with a large caterpillar gasoline crane. Mr. Cashman advises that the larger project will be completed in just a few days after the arrival of the storm basins castings which have been delayed in transit.

The installation of these sewers introduced the use in Circleville of the latest and most modern sewer building equipment available. Contractor Cashman's equipment functions in a manner that approximates human efficiency. The large trenching machine is what is styled as the "hoe type" and pulls the trench after the machine itself. It digs a trench any width and as deep as 22 feet, but the trencher itself is always on solid ground.

The work now being done relieves the area east of Court-st. and South of Mount; it having experienced much trouble from accumulating waters after each rain because of lack of ample facilities for quick getaway of the water.

The larger project provides storm water relief to all that area South of the R.R. on Half-ave., Clinton-st, Ohio-st, Washington and Pickaway-sts, and has been badly needed for a long time past.

Mr. Cashman has similar contracts in Hamilton and Springfield and will move to Hamilton the first of June.

AGREEMENT IS EXPECTED ON FARM MEASURE

Compromise Between Senate
and House Conferees Is
First Step.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—An early agreement on conflicting provisions of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was predicted today following a compromise between Senate and House conferees on some important provisions.

Senate conferees, it was learned, yielded to the House restrictions on the power of advisory councils set up to advise the proposed Federal Farm Board in handling surplus crops. The House provision requires consent of the council before the equalization fee is levied, but removes many restrictions on the Federal Board which said to be objected to by President Coolidge last year.

Heading protests of co-operative heads of the middle west, the House managers yielded to an amendment reducing the "co-operative boosting fund" from $2,000,000 to $1,000,000.

Mid-west farm organizers had complained that the $2,000,000 would constitute a "slush fund" under which the Federal Farm Board could boost favored cooperatives and revive others which had failed because of poor management.

WALTER HAGEN FORGES AHEAD IN REAL PLAY

Makes Typical Rush From Rear and Takes Long Lead in British Match

SANDWICH, ENG., May 11.—Making one of his typical rushes from the rear, Walter Hagen, the suave, sleek American with the fighting heart, shot a 72 in the final round to take a long lead in the British open golf championship with a grand total of 292 strokes. He was six strokes ahead of Percy Allis, Englishman, at this point, Jurado, the Argentine having finished at 301 and Bill Mehlhorn, American, at 302.

Of those still on the course, only Gene Sarazen, American, who finished the morning round a stroke behind Hagen, and Archie Compston, Englishman, two strokes behind Hagen at that point, had even an outside chance to head the bronzed, debonair American leader.

He seemed to be a virtual push-in for his third British title at this juncture.

He dominated the situation from the moment he stepped on the first tee this morning. A 72 also reeled out of his bag of clubs for that round and, under the hot pace, Jose Jurado, the Argentine sensation of the early days, withered and shriveled and all but died. He had a 76 this morning, losing the lead to Hagen by a stroke and finished with an 80.

Mehlhorn also failed to hold the pace, taking a 76 and a 77. However, Allis came through with a 72 pulling himself out of the ruck to place second in the final scores posted to date. Jack Smith, another Englishman, then took a 74 placing directly behind Mehlhorn at 306.

Several Other Pickaway-Co. Schools Also To Go To Meet Saturday.

The Tigers, Williamsport, New Holland, Walnut-twp., and several other nearby schools are all set for the class B central district track and field meet to be held at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Saturday.

Several additional last-minute entries are also expected.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented to the men finishing first, second and third, respectively, in each event. Hand-some trophies will be awarded to the winners in the relay.

Preliminaries in the field events will begin Saturday morning at 9:30. The finals will begin at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Admission charges to the meet will be 25 cents for high school students and 50 cents for all others.

Class B schools entered to date are: Bexley, Watkins, Fredericktown, Grandview, Radnor, Prospect, Mt. Setling, New Holland, Greencamp, Liberty Union, Powell, Williamsport, Norral, Walnut-twp., Ashley, Circleville and Marysville.

Spellbound

Ten-year-old Mary had won a scholarship, and was telling her mother about the papers.

The subject for essay had been, "How I Spend My Sunday Morning," and after discoursing on minding the baby, helping mother wash up and so on, Mary ended with the amazing statement, "and then I play a game of chess with my brother."

"Chess!" queried her mother. "But you can't play chess!"

"I know. I wanted to put dominoes, but I couldn't spell it."

Scorched Feet, but Squirrel Got Nuts

This may not be the time of year for nature stories, but here's one already made. The little girl and her brother had tamed a squirrel. Every morning he came to their house for breakfast of some sort. One day the little girl started to market and the squirrel companionably went along with her. Into the very store he scrambled after her, much to the amusement and surprise of the proprietor, and of the customers.

They began to throw nuts for the little fellow and he scrambled after them eagerly. A poorly aimed shot suddenly went into the wide-open door of the low stove and like a flash the little animal jumped in after it. There was a yell of dismay from the onlookers and they started to the squirrel's aid, but he deftly jumped out again, his feet scorched, but otherwise seemingly not much hurt by his jump onto live coals.—Springfield Union.

WALTER HAGEN FORGES AHEAD IN REAL PLAY

Makes Typical Rush From Rear and Takes Long Lead in British Match

SANDWICH, ENG., May 11.—Making one of his typical rushes from the rear, Walter Hagen, the suave, sleek American with the fighting heart, shot a 72 in the final round to take a long lead in the British open golf championship with a grand total of 292 strokes. He was six strokes ahead of Percy Allis, Englishman, at this point, Jurado, the Argentine having finished at 301 and Bill Mehlhorn, American, at 302.

Of those still on the course, only Gene Sarazen, American, who finished the morning round a stroke behind Hagen, and Archie Compston, Englishman, two strokes behind Hagen at that point, had even an outside chance to head the bronzed, debonair American leader. He seemed to be a virtual push-in for his third British title at this juncture.

He dominated the situation from the moment he stepped on the first tee this morning. A 72 also reeled out of his bag of clubs for that round and, under the hot pace, Jose Jurado, the Argentine sensation of the early days, withered and shriveled and all but died. He had a 76 this morning, losing the lead to Hagen by a stroke and finished with an 80.

Mehlhorn also failed to hold the pace, taking a 76 and a 77. However, Allis came through with a 72 pulling himself out of the ruck to place second in the final scores posted to date. Jack Smith, another Englishman, then took a 74 placing directly behind Mehlhorn at 306.

OUR HOPE—The hope of the righteous shall be gladness; but the expectation of the wicked shall perish.—Prov. 10:28.

PRAYER—"My hope is built on nothing less, Than Jesus' blood and righteousness."

MOTHER'S DAY OBLIGATION

It is a fine thing to wear a pink or white carnation for Mother's day, but a still finer one to do something appropriate to the day. There is always a tendency among the young people to look at their parents as old-fashioned. The children tell them that they do not understand present conditions, so the parental advice is often rejected. A great many young people have gotten into trouble because they thus disregarded the wise counsel that was given to them. Mother's day is a good time to ask ourselves of the ideals which our mothers cherished for us were not good ones, and if we have done well in setting them aside as much as we have done. If one's mother is living, something should be done to show her how much one appreciates all the sacrifice and effort she has made for her children. And if the mother has gone, one could well take a little time to think of her memory, and of the things she hoped her children would do and become, and try to live up to that expectation.

Many of us go along year after year without expressing much affection for our mothers. It is often difficult to put such thoughts into words. Many of us thus fail to show how much we care for them, and then some day when they leave us, we bitterly regret that we have not done more for them, and have not shown more devotion in return for all that she lavished on us.

The time to show such affection is when our mothers are with us, and not when they have gone beyond our reach. Let us give lavishly of our affection and our service to our living mothers, so that they can have no doubt of our love. Let us anticipate their every need and forestall the difficulties they have to meet in their declining years. And then after they have gone, let us see to it that our lives conform to the ambitions they had for us, and are worthy of all they gave us.

WORKING WITH THE BUSINESS MEN

ONE of the most essential forms of co-operation is a disposition to co-operate with home town business. The retail merchants here in Circleville co-operate with the people by doing their best to provide moderate stores fully equipped with the latest goods at very moderate prices. In the main our people co-operate with them by buying their supplies at home. But there are always a considerable number who fail to give such co-operation, as the result of spending money elsewhere for the things they need. Thus the forces in our community that should work for its advancement do not all pull together, and some of our money is co-operating with business elsewhere rather than with our own enterprise.

CO-OPERATION

THE business men of Circleville are not only co-operating with each other and they consult together for mutual accomplishment. The business men unite in many ways to help the residents of the community to have to make no long movements, if they want to prosper for their own good. If a town consists of a number of individuals and families, some of whom are simply working for themselves or for their own group, there is no go ahead. Such a community falls far behind one where the people join the business and improvement organizations and work together for mutual benefit.

ONE DAY

MAN builds For but one day And then Some others come To dip his Pen And follow up the Masterpiece From which he never Found surcease; One day of dreaming For the things For which a sad heart Always sings, One day to build Your castle Strong And then another comes Along To lift the cross You carried Here For life is very Short, I fear, And though you live A hundred years Your mind is still Obsessed by Fears That you will never Win your goal And thus you die, Poor restless Soul! One day of joy, One day of gloom And then you sink Into your Toom— And what we mean to say Is, Keep on with dreaming, Though you find That dreams sometime Appear unkind; Your day with energy Will fill And your whole Nervous system thrill If, though you live But for a day, You seek to find Life's better Way.

The other day we saw an old fashioned dress, one of those affairs that used to sweep the entire street, and we guess no one in that day and age ever would have guessed that they would live to see the time when it would furnish enough cloth to make gowns for every girl on our street.

SYNOPSIS

The Vasquez ranch is coveted by Buckwell, San Francisco boss. Vasquez won't sell. Buckwell and lawyer, Brandon, plan to void Vasquez's grant. Brandon's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores, Vasquez's beautiful granddaughter, and warns of plot. Vasquez spurs warning and informs Terry that Dolores must marry young Spaniard, Terry, heartbroken, goes on spree. Dolores finds Terry in Frisco's Barbary Coast and is disillusioned. Buckwell meets Dolores and, intrigued, lures her to Frisco. Terry rescues Dolores and beats Buckwell. Terry is forgiven and discloses Buckwell's real purpose. Buckwell tries to snuff Vasquez by force, but his men are routed by the fiery Spaniard.

Sword in hand, the fine old gentleman stalked away, mumbling to himself, "I shall guard my land and my property as I did when the Gold Rush came—I shall kill it need be. No one but a Vasquez shall own these lands!"

The two young people watched while he took his place before the ruined entrance. He leaned against the broken masonry with his sword at rest and watched with eagle eyes to see that no one passed by the mission on the road that led from town. He was a pathetic figure, holding on, through courage and pride, to all that he held dear in life.

"Poor Granddaddy," Dolores tried to choke down a sob, "we must not disturb him, but I will stay and watch until you return from town."

"All right, sweetheart," nodded Terry in assent, "I will try and return before dark with an injunction, even though it be a temporary one."

Their eyes met, and closed to hold the love that each saw reflected in the other's face. As though drawn by some irresistible force, Terry advanced until he was close to Dolores, so close that their hands clasped at their sides and their lips met in a quick kiss that was so terrifying in its sweetness that Terry hurried away.

Long after he was out of sight Dolores stood alone, watching and dreaming. Her thoughts were swept away from sordid reality by the sheer ecstasy of his caress. She wanted him back and began counting the seconds until his return. And a few feet away stood another sentinel, sword in hand, counting the moments until Buckwell or one of his satellites arrived to carry out the nefarious scheme. Vasquez was prepared to give up his life in defense of his beloved property.

CHAPTER XII

Dolores Is Left Alone

The hour of California's magnificent sunset had come and still Vasquez and Dolores stood guard. With night approaching, bringing the advent of another day that much nearer, their thoughts were concerned with what was in store for them. N place to go, no friends to consult, no money to draw from. It was a cruel outlook for a children of noblemen who had grown up with the ancestral acres and lived a life in a carefree, happy manner that had harmed no one. His present dilemma was the result of having pursued his business and farming activities to the point of ruin. He had no money and no friends. MOTHER'S DAY OBLIGATION

It is a fine thing to wear a pink or white carnation for Mother's day, but a still finer one to do something appropriate to the day.

There is always a tendency among the young people to look at their parents as old-fashioned. The children tell them that they do not understand present conditions, so the parental advice is often rejected. A great many young people have gotten into trouble because they thus disregarded the wise counsel that was given to them. Mother's day is a good time to ask ourselves of the ideals which our mothers cherished for us were not good ones, and if we have done well in setting them aside as much as we have done.

If one's mother is living, something should be done to show her how much one appreciates all the sacrifice and effort she has made for her children. And if the mother has gone, one could well take a little time to think of her memory, and of the things she hoped her children would do and become, and try to live up to that expectation.

Many of us go along year after year without expressing much affection for our mothers. It is often difficult to put such thoughts into words. Many of us thus fail to show how much we care for them, and then some day when they leave us, we bitterly regret that we have not done more for them, and have not shown more devotion in return for all that she lavished on us.

The time to show such affection is when our mothers are with us, and not when they have gone beyond our reach. Let us give lavishly of our affection and our service to our living mothers, so that they can have no doubt of our love. Let us anticipate their every need and forestall the difficulties they have to meet in their declining years. And then after they have gone, let us see to it that our lives conform to the ambitions they had for us, and are worthy of all they gave us.

ONE of the most essential forms of co-operation is a disposition to co-operate with home town business. The retail merchants here in Circleville co-operate with the people, by doing their best to provide modern stores fully equipped with the latest goods at very moderate prices.

In the main our people co-operate with them by buying their supplies at home. But there are always a considerable number who fail to give such co-operation, as the result of spending money elsewhere for the things they need. Thus the forces in our community that should work for its advance do not all pull together, and some of our money is co-operating with business elsewhere rather than with our own enterprises.

CO-OPERATION

The business men get together in mergers and combines and they consult together for mutual accomplishment. The wage-earners unite in unions. And similarly the residents of a community have to unite in co-operative movements, if they want to secure prosperity for their community.

If a town consists simply of isolated individuals and families, each of whom is simply working for himself or his own group, there is no go ahead. Such a community falls far behind one where the people join the business and improvement organizations and work together for mutual benefit.

The "Is-it-hot-enough-for-you" pests got an early start this year.—Akron (O.) Beacon-Journal.

The RAMBLER

By NORMAN W. RALSTON

ONE DAY

MAN builds
For but one day
And then
Some others come To dip his Pen
And follow up the Masterpiece
From which he never Found surcease;
One day of dreaming
For the things
For which a sad heart
Always sings,
One day to build
Your castle
Strong
And then another comes Along
To lift the cross
You carried Here
For life is very Short, I fear,
And 'though you live
A hundred years
Your mind is still Obsessed by Fears
That you will never Win your goal
And thus you die,
Poor restless
Soul!
One day of joy,
One day of gloom
And then you slink
Into your Toom—
And what we mean to say Is,
Keep on with dreaming,
'Though you find
That dreams sometime
Appear unkind;
Your day with energy
Will fill
And your whole
Nervous system thrill
If, though you live
But for a day,
You seek to find Life's better Way.

The other day we saw an old fashioned dress, one of those affairs that used to sweep the entire street, and we guess no one in that day and age ever would have guessed that they would live to see the time when it would furnish enough cloth to make gowns for every girl on our street.

HUMAN NATURE
I'd rather be an elephant,
I'd rather be a clam,
I'd rather be most anything
Than what I really am.
—Norman W. Ralston, this column.

I'd rather be an acrobat,
Or yet a swimming beauty,
And go out traveling with a show
Than to stay at home with duty.
—Haith, Lady from West Palm Beach.

THANK HEAVEN FOR MAPLE SYRUP!
Smacking his lips in anticipation of his breakfast of buckwheat cakes, William Southern Jr., of the Independence Examiner calls our attention to the reputation of that city as a sorghum molasses center. According to Mr. Southern, this prime molasses has been shipped as far as Washington and Maryland.—Kansas City Times.

We'd ship it farther than that if we had it. Polk-co, ribbon cane syrup is the only proper spread for a breakfast cake. Without a proper spread of Polk-co, ribbon cane to nestle under a breakfast cake is a total loss.—Judd Mortimer in Houston Post-Dispatch.

If Judd should ever get a taste of Ohio maple syrup he would probably think he had died and gone to heaven.—Ema Spencer in Newark Advocate.

And if you, Norman, should ever get a swallow of hijack made out of our Florida cane syrup your friends would KNOW you had died and gone to heaven.—Haith, the Lady from West Palm Beach, Fla.

We're going to stick to Ema's Ohio maple syrup and cakes, Haith.

TODAY'S BEST STORY

The old hen gathered her brood together and bade the 12 pullets guard their only brother while she went out for the afternoon.

On her return all the pullets were weeping bitterly and cried, "Oh, mother dear, our brother is dead."

"Dead! How did it happen?"
"The minister came to tea. The farmer's wife caught our brother, cooked him and the minister has eaten him!"

"How sad! But we must look at the bright side of things. Anyway, we can be thankful your brother has entered the ministry for he would never have been any us as a layman!"—Selected by

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
The Vasquez ranch is coveted by Buckwell, San Francisco boss. Vasquez won't sell, Buckwell and lawyer, Brandon, plan to void Vasquez's grant. Brandon's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores, Vasquez's beautiful granddaughter, and warns of plot. Vasquez spurs warning and informs Terry that Dolores must marry young Spaniard, Terry, and Terry in Frisco's Barbary Coast is disillusioned. Buckwell meets Dolores and, intrigued, lures her to Frisco. Terry rescues Dolores and beats Buckwell. Terry is forgiven and discloses Buckwell's real purpose. Buckwell tries to evict Vasquez by force, but his men are routed by the very Spaniard.

Sword in hand, the fine old gentleman stalked away, mumbling to himself, "I shall guard my land and my property as I did when the Gold Rush came—I shall kill if need be. No one but a Vasquez shall own these lands!"
The two young people watched while he took his place before the ruined entrance. He leaned against the broken masonry with his sword at rest and watched with eagle eyes to see that no one passed by the mission on the road that led from town. He was a pathetic figure, holding on, through courage and pride, to all that he held dear in life.

"Poor Granddaddy," Dolores tried to choke down a sob, "we must not disturb him, but I will stay and watch until you return from town."

"All right, sweetheart," nodded Terry in assent, "I will try and return before dark with an injunction, even though it be a temporary one."

Their eyes met, and closed to hold the love that each saw reflected in the other's face. As though drawn by some irresistible force Terry advanced until he was close to Dolores, so close that their hands clasped at their sides and their lips met in a quick kiss that was so terrifying in its sweetness that Terry hurried away.

Long after he was out of sight Dolores stood alone, watching and dreaming. Her thoughts really were swept away from her caress. She was back and began counting the seconds until his return. And a few feet away stood another sentinel, sword in hand, counting the moments until Buckwell or one of his satellites arrived to carry out the nefarious scheme. Vasquez was prepared to give up his life in defense of his beloved property.

Dolores is Left Alone

The hour of California's magnificent sunset had come and still Vasquez and Dolores stood guard.

"With night approaching, bringing the advent of another day that much nearer, their thoughts were concerned with what was in store for them. No place to go, no friends to consult, no money to draw from! It was a cruel outlook for a chivalrous old nobleman who had grown up with the ancestral acres and enjoyed life in a carefree, indolent manner that harmed no one except himself. His present dilemma was the result of having relinquished business and farming activities to sit back and enjoy life with utter disregard for all responsibilities. Yet, regardless of what Senor Vasquez had or had not done, the land belonged to him, and the expression on his face brooded ill for anyone who dared trespass.

Dolores sat on the mossy ground beneath a great tree with knees cradled in her arms, looking at the hazy, brilliant reflection from the setting sun turned all its windows to gold, and the soft breeze that was fast dying down stirred the ivy covered walls and made the place seem alive. Her eyes could

Power of Trees

The power of tree roots is tremendous. Those of a five-year-old oak lifted a block of granite weighing 4½ tons. In seven years the block had been raised two inches.

Natural Heat Some Day

Chemists are predicting that the interior of the earth will be harnessed and converted to our homes and no fault with the picturesque old structure. The instinct for a home was deeply planted in Dolores' young breast. She could not bear the thought of going away from the surroundings that had always been so dear. She wanted to live there with Terry and have him become master of the weed-filled fields and neglected vineyards as well as of her heart and ancestral home.

The lone servant ambled about the deserted dining room and shook his head as he cleared away the untouched repast. The sound of someone walking through the patio drew him quickly to the open doorway.

"May I be of service, senor?" he asked with deference upon seeing a man crossing to the open yard beyond.

The man was Buckwell. Startled by a voice from the dark interior, he whirled about, and it took him several seconds to discern the dim shape in the doorway.

"Where's your master?" he snarled upon making sure it was the lone servant of the place.

"Outside, senor," came hastily from the cringing peon.

"Where—outside? Now, don't lie to me or I'll break your neck!"

"By the mission—the chapel, senor—the chapel!" and two snarling hands came up protectively before his face.

With a grunt of satisfaction Buckwell hitched his cane in the crook of his arm and picked his way gingerly across the roughly tiled patio to the path beyond. Having visited the chapel on his first call at the rancho, he knew where to go.

As soon as he came within range of Vasquez's vision the elderly sentinel straightened up from his weary vigil and firmly clutched his sword with half numbed fingers. His knuckles were white from strain.

"You—you have dared return," trembled Vasquez savagely. "You who have betrayed my hospitality and sought to defile my home! Begone—before it is too late!" He stood with outstretched arm and eyes blazing with fury.

At the sound of angry voices Dolores stopped her twilight dreaming and watched intently from behind the tree.

"Cut out the romance," remarked Buckwell impatiently to Vasquez, "and listen to reason. I've got a warrant to take you into court for interfering with my surveys."

Vasquez drew in a quick breath of shocked surprise. Noting that his threat had caused the desired alarm, Buckwell continued, "Oh, yes, I know all about it, and the company will sue you for smashing their instrument." He smirked in satisfaction over the other's discomfiture. "You have got to vacate this place by noon tomorrow—understand?" He shook his fist emphatically before Vasquez's face.

Buckwell's words and intolerable rudeness electrified Vasquez, and, inflamed by an increasing anger, he said bitterly, "You seek to dishonor my name." Madly bearing down upon Buckwell, he continued with upraised sword, "But a Vasquez avenges a Vasquez!"

"Are you crazy?" cried Buckwell in alarm, and, frightened by this exhibition of ferocity, he hastily stepped back.

Quivering with rage, Vasquez followed Buckwell's retreat step by step. Extending his sword, he lunged viciously at his betrayer's heart. But the exertion was too great. His waning strength ebbed from his arm and the sword sagged before he touched his intended victim. Torturing uncertainty for a moment, Vasquez plunged forward to the ground.

The promise made hours before was kept. Hernandez Vasquez had defended property and name with his very life! Buckwell looked down at the prostrate form, his lips split twisted in a sneer. There was no doubt in his mind about the "old man" being dead. It simplified matters considerably to have him out of the way. The young granddaughter was difficult to deal with, but Buckwell knew from experience how to handle such matters. He knew of a hundred ways whereby young girls could be disposed of and no one ever learn their fate. With a shrug of indifference he straightened up from his contemplation of Vasquez's body and was amazed at being confronted by the silent, accusing presence of Dolores.

Her great eyes peered at him as though he were a loathsome monster. He had just committed an irreparable injury, and she was powerless to strike back. With a cry of anguish she dropped to her knees and bent over the inert form. "Granddaddy!" she called softly. There was no answer. "Granddaddy!" With loving careful hands she turned his face from the ground. The lifeless eyes stared blankly. "Oh, dear God!" she sobbed and for a moment pressed hot fingers against her own eyes to blot out the sight and realization of what had happened.

BUNION ARTISTS IN OHIO

58-MILE HIKE ON TAP TODAY FOR DERBYIST

Tooth Cuts Lead of Peter Gavuzzi As Oklahoman Creeps Up On Him.

By LELAND C. LEWIS
I. N. S. Special Correspondent
WAUSEON, O., May 11.—C. C. "Cross Country" Pyle's bunion derby is thus far not in the habit of pausing to read the scriptures, but many mused this morning over the line "and only the strong shall survive."

Today's jaunt for the caravan of calouses called for a 58-mile trek from Wauseon to Fremont after skirting Toledo. This lap, long in itself, was to be followed with an additional 58-mile tomorrow to Elyria. With the increased daily mileage, men who have been "dark horses" continued their assault upon the time margins of the leaders.

Peter Gavuzzi, heading the big parade with an elapsed time of 430:24:21 for 2,264.6 miles to Wauseon, saw his edge over Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoman, cut to three hours, 45 minutes, 20 seconds, when an ulcerated tooth cost him two hours, 24 minutes, three seconds.

John Salo, third place man, paced the field Thursday through the 44.9 miles from Butler, Ind., in 5:59:59, 58 minutes, 13 seconds ahead of Payne, Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y., and Phillip Granville, of Hamilton, Ont., who tied for second.

Gavuzzi was twenty-second for the day in 9:22:15. Many of the late arrivals here battled through miles of rain that made going over the highway slow and hazardous.

Kenneth Campbell, of Ranger Texas, was forced out of the grand Thursday, shortly after he passed the 2,600 mile mark. Arches that have held him back through the trek over mountains, deserts, and prairies, finally gave way and stripped him of hope of success at the journey's end.

With 112 miles on tap within a two day period, Referee Red Grange predicted that the field would be materially reduced before the runners reached Cleveland, Sunday.

"The fellows have a fighting heart now that is hard to down," Grange said. "Speed is the thing that counts now and all of the men know that they will be dropped at the least show of indifference. The midnight zero hour will be strictly enforced and those who fail to check in will receive their $100 transportation deposit and be on their way home within a few hours."

Pyle's caravan is increasing its attractiveness with each passing day. The canvas sidewalk within which the runners are introduced become a magnet that tempts with cheering hundreds. Last night more than 1000 persons defied rain to get a peep at the runners in "Pyle's popular prices that please plenty."

Ed Gardner, Seattle shiek who in three days, with the handicap of a shin splint, dropped from fifth to tenth position, required 12:46:35 for yesterday's lap, but was still optimistic of his chances. His elapsed time is 499:11:52.

"The bum dog quit barking," Gardner said, "and now I know that I have to move."

Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., finished yesterday in 8:21:42 for an elapsed time of 727:41:00.

A pink cheeked, cheery, chubby chap going on sixty years of age, natty from boutonniere to spats, paused at our desk the other day to inquire the result of the fifth race at Pimlico.

It was our old friend Jack McLaughlin, who more than 30 years ago retired undefeated as lightweight champion of the world. "What do you think of next week's fight?" we asked him, knowing that the affair between Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin was on his mind.

"I think there's a good chance for the Irishman," said Jack. "It's about time the lightweight championship came back to the Irish race."

"It's a funny thing about the lightweight title anyhow," he continued. "It has had a funny run."

"There never was an American lightweight champion of the world until the original Nonpareil Jack Dempsey. All the title-holders before him were Englishmen. And Dempsey no sooner had won the title than he grew too heavy for the division and had to pass it on."

"In May, 1885, following a bout on the coast, Young Mitchell of California claimed the world's championship."

"I had been licking them all, so I immediately challenged Young Mitchell to fight for the title and $1,000 on the side. The only stipulation I made was that the fight should take place at least 1,000 miles west of Chicago."

"The match never was made, and I claimed the title and held it until 1897, not 1893, as some of the records say."

"Well, I was Irish all right, and they knew it when I was fighting. But since then—after I retired undefeated—we've had Lavigne, Gans, Nelson, Wolgast, Ritchie, Welch, Leonard, Kansas and Mandell. You can't find an Irishman in that crowd. Maybe Jimmy Goodrich was Irish, but he didn't last long."

"Now the lightweight championship belongs to the Irish race and it's high time it was coming back."

"This McLarnin boy looks as though he could do the trick, for he's certainly a hitter. When he let go at Sid Terns that night up in Madison Square Garden I threw up my hat and I haven't found it yet. We Irishmen must stick together."

SINCLAIR HORSE IS EXPECTED TO WIN PREAKNESS

BALTIMORE, May 11.—A horse which one month ago could not have run in Maryland, stands today to win that state's richest racing fixture—the $50,000 Preakness. The horse is Nassak and he is the property of Harry P. Sinclair, the oil man, all of whose horses were barred in Maryland just prior to the late Teapot Dome trial.

Nassak is favored to beat a sparkling field of 19 three-old colts and one filly which have been named against him.

Forty thousand fans will be at the historic Pimlico track this afternoon. Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland and Mayor James J. Walker, of New York City, will jointly present the Woodlawn vase to the winning owner.

Bright spring sunshine and a brisk spring breeze on the old course on the hill have turned the tract fast and indications were that the Preakness will be run under the ideal conditions.

Nassak's main rivals for the $50,000 prize are Bobashele, Strolling Player, Knapsack and Distracted. The race will be decided over the 1 1/16 mile course.

SMOKE MAGIC

Here's Some Smoke Magic You Can Do With a Nickel

Converting nickels into dimes or quarters by sleight-of-hand is interesting. It's cheap, of course. But here's a trick that's genuine. You can do it! Lay a nickel on a cigar counter. Measure what it usually buys in a cigar. Then ask for a Havana Ribbon and see the value your nickel attains!

Here's a cigar, man, that's been famous for thirty years. Its production has risen by millions. Wise experience and the use of nothing but ripe tobacco from heart to wrapper have so marvelously bettered this cigar, there's simply nothing else in the wide world to compare with it for the price.

It's mellow, mild, fragrant. Not a tinge of bitterness. Not a trace of "flatness." No "scraps" or short ends to fray or crumble in your mouth. No, sir! Long filler only—like you find in higher priced cigars. Give it a chance. Don't forget the magic words—"Havana Ribbon." Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

Harvesting Flax

The usual method of harvesting flax in European countries is by hand pulling, and this method has also been used in certain sections of the United States where laborers could be hired at reasonable rates. Marked improvements in the efficiency of flax pulling machines have been made in recent years, and the expensive backaching work of hand pulling is being superseded by machine pulling.

MICHELIN Tires

As tire experts, we are sure that Michelines are the best tires built today. Barring accidents, they will give you more mileage than other tires—by several thousand miles. But you are protected against even accidents when you buy a Michelin here—because with it you get a 1-year guarantee certificate that guarantees the tire against blow-outs, cuts, bruises, under-inflation and other road-hazards.

During the past two years, reports have been received from over 3000 motorists who were testing Michelines against other makes. These motorists were picked entirely at random; therefore, you may be confident that your experience will be like theirs. More than 80% of them reported that Michelines gave more mileage than the other tires they were using. Of the remainder, only a few said Michelines gave less mileage; and these few exceptions, we are sure, were due to accidents. That's where our 1-year guarantee against road-hazards comes in.

Michelin has the best tire; we have the best selling policy. The combination gives you the greatest certainty of tire satisfaction. Remember that when you need tires.

58-MILE HIKE ON TAP TODAY FOR DERBYIST

Tooth Cuts Lead of Peter Gavuzzi As Oklahoman Creeps Up On Him.

By LELAND C. LEWIS
I. N. S. Special Correspondent
WAUSEON, O., May 11—C. C. "Cross Country" Pyle's bunion derby is thus far not in the habit of pausing to read the scriptures, but many mused this morning over the line "and only the strong shall survive."

Today's jaunt for the caravan of calouses called for a 58-mile trek from Wauseon to Fremont after skirting Toledo. This lap, long in itself, was to be followed with an additional 58-mile tomorrow to Elyria. With the increased daily mileage, men who have been "dark horses" continued their assault upon the time margins of the leaders.

Peter Gavuzzi, heading the big parade with an elapsed time of 430:24.21 for 2,264.6 miles to Wauseon, saw his edge over Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoman, cut to three hours, 45 minutes, 20 seconds, when an ulcerated tooth cost him two hours, 24 minutes, three seconds.

John Salo, third place man, paced the field Thursday through the 44.9 miles from Butler, Ind., in 5:59:59, 58 minutes, 13 seconds ahead of Payne, Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y., and Phillip Granville, of Hamilton, Ont., who tied for second.

Gavuzzi was twenty-second for the day in 9:22:15. Many of the late arrivals here battled through miles of rain that made going over the highway slow and hazardous.

Kenneth Campbell, of Ranger, Texas, was forced out of the grind Thursday, shortly after he passed the 2,600 mile mark. Arches that have held him back through the trek over mountains, deserts, and prairies, finally gave way and stripped him of hope of success at the journey's end.

Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., finished yesterday in 8:21:42, for an elapsed time of 727:01:02.

Oil Under Ocean?

Geologists say that the source beds of most oil fields are marine in origin, deposited millions of years ago. Through the ages oil of these sea deposits was concentrated into pools that are now being drained. Therefore it seems no reason why the bed of the ocean should not be a source of future oil supply.

Is your daughter Graduating
this June?

... then you'll want
an ELGIN of course

A love of a watch for a love of a girl! No gift can take rank with a lovely watch at commencement time... and these new ELGINS will make her gasp with joy. For the new PARISIENNE designs are quite the newest, and most stylish you have seen in women's watches. Of course, they ought to be... they were designed for ELGIN by three of the leading couturiers and modistes of Paris. At $35 they are marvelous... See them... and other ELGIN models we have... at any price you care to pay.
